

BIOSORE

DESCRIPTION

Ointment for topical use, containing camphor and ammonium sulphoicthiolate, Salicylic acid and lanolin.

TECHNICAL PROPERTIES

Wounds, fissures, skin and mammary infections tend to be chronic processes due to oedema, fibrous reaction and purulent material and necrosis of the accumulated tissues. Apart from the necessary hygiene measures it is necessary to apply an ointment that reactivates the circulation, calms the pain and acts as an antiseptic.

BIOSORE is a topical ointment with synergetic ingredients: camphor and ammonium sulphoicthiolate are rubefacients used topically for the treatment of inflammations. Salicylic acid acts as a keratolytic and topical antiseptic (moulds, bacteria and shingles). Finally lanolin is not an active substance but helps to improve the absorption in the tissues and the distribution of the above mentioned substances.

INDICATIONS AND SPECIES

It is used for pigs, sheep, goats, cattle, buffaloes and camels of all ages to treat external wounds, fissures, mammal oedema and acute mastitis. It is specially indicated for acute and chronic mastitis, applying the product with a massage on the affected area. It is also recommended for inflammations of the joints, sprains or diseases of the extremities.
