

VIVA AVIAR

DESCRIPTION

Alive Newcastle virus in oral lyophilized.

TECHNICAL PROPERTIES

Newcastle disease is caused by a paramyxoviruses with several strains that differ in virulence but have a similar antigenic composition. It causes high mortality and decreases in lay.

Acutely the disease develops respiratory, digestive and nervous symptoms, while the subacute and chronic form of the disease are complicated with secondary infections.

INDICATIONS AND SPECIES

Intended for broilers, layers and reproductive chicken in the fight and prevention of Newcastle disease.

COMPOSITION

Alive Newcastle virus "LaSota" strain 10^{6.5} DIE- 50

DOSAGE

Orally: Once the vaccine is reconstituted, it is administered with the amount of drinking water that will be consumed within 2 hours (15 litres of water for every 1000 broilers of 3- 4 weeks and 40 litres for the same amount of broilers older than 4 weeks). To improve the stability of the product it is recommended to add 1 gram of fat free milk to the drinking water without disinfectant.

Aerogen route: Perform nebulization with a 500 ml solution every 1000 doses. Poultry must be kept a minimum of 20 minutes in this environment.

In all cases one dose per animal must be administered. In large populations the vaccination schedule must be established under veterinary criteria depending on the epidemiology of the area.

Re-vaccination should done with the H- 52 strain and thereafter with inactivated oily vaccines that allow long acting immune response.

CONTRAINDICATIONS

Do not administer to sick or feverish animals. 5- 7 days after the administration a vaccination reaction can appear that can be distinguished with respiratory noises.

Do not mix with water that contains disinfectants.

PACKAGING

1000 and 2500 doses.
